Ministry favours Haliburton location

by Jerry Grozelle

David Thomas, a spokesman for the Ministry of Health, appeared reluctant to admit it, but he told the July 13 meeting of the acting Health Services Board his ministry prefers the Haliburton Hospital site for the consolidation of the county's 19 acute care beds.

Thomas said the ministry personnel used a number of criteria to support their finding, including financial viability of the 30 Long Term Care (LTC) beds which have been earmarked for the Haliburton location. It was suggested in the ministry report that it may be difficult to justify, economically, the operation of just the 30 LTC beds at the Haliburton site, however, sharing resources and staff which would be needed to serve the 19 acute care beds (representing the consolidation of the ten acute care beds in Haliburton and the nine beds in Minden) would make the economics of the decision more palatable.

Thomas told the meeting that the location of the 30 LTC beds next to the Haliburton Hospital was "a given". He noted the previous Planning and Development Committee recommended the Haliburton location for the 30 beds and the ministry, in its response in December, had concurred. (During the last provincial election campaign the then leader of the NDP, Bob Rae, told a Haliburton audience if his party was elected, he would ensure the much delayed LTC beds would be built where they had been promised.)

The decision as to the location of the consolidated acute care services in the county is ultimately up to the acting Health Services Board and whatever site the board chooses, Thomas, said the ministry will honour that decision.

Demographics challenged

In what some have described as a blistering attack, the chairman of the Health Services Board took issue with the reliability of the conclusions of a demographics study circulated by board member Doug Campbell. The study was done several years ago when Campbell was a member of the Planning and Development Committee.

Campbell said the report attempted to show the potential number of area residents who rely on the acute care hospital services currently being offered in each community.

Baker went through portions of the

It is probably as far as one can get from traditional Highland games, but that doesn't mean face painting shouldn't be part of the fun of the day. Five year old Andrew Swanson slowly disappears behind a cat face being applied by one of the organizers from Camp Wanakita. They were responsible for children's activities during the sixth annual Highland Games, July 9, in Haliburton.

Good news for Minden swingers

The recommendations of the Ministry of Natural Resources forestry personnel regarding the willows along Minden's Gull River park have been accepted by the municipal council.

The council had asked the MNR personnel for their advice in regard to the trees, in relation to improvements now underway on both sides of the river. According to the council, only 13 trees will have to be removed. Others will need to be trimmed back or have limbs removed.

The council visited the river bank two weeks ago and examined the trees in question. Councillor Jean Anthon reported that the rot was evident in some of the trees and it was obvious that they posed a hazard to community safety.

The council has also said that any trees which are removed will be replaced. The removal is not expected to take place until after Labour Day, when a major portion of the park improvements is expected to be underway.

Reeve Berry said that following initial reports of the MNR recommendations, the council was contacted by a number of citizens concerned about the fate of the trees. However, with the river bank improvements and the promise to replace trees which are removed there appears to be general satisfaction that the character of community as defined by the river bank will be enhanced in the changes.

There was good news for the young people who enjoy swimming along the river. The trees which provide support for the rope swings are not on the list for removal.

Bidders help

A new outdoor activity centre at Hyland Crest Senior Citizens' Home is one step closer to reality after an auction at the facility on July 9.

Auctioneer Norm Mills coaxed more than $2,000 out of many of the bidders who attended the auction. All of the items were donated by artists and craftspeople from the area.

"Their generosity is greatly appreciated by the residents," said Doris Robertson, activity director for Hyland Crest.

residents will be able to go out of doors but be out of the sun. Raised gardens will be installed where those with green thumbs can grow flowers and vegetables. The centre will also be used in the summer for barbecues and cook-outs. The area will be wheel chair accessible.

Report's findings challenged

report pointing out a number of inaccuracies and flaws in the calculations, effectively reducing the credibility of the entire document. Baker did point out that he has a great respect for Doug Campbell and the work he has done for the community.

Baker's critical scrutiny of the report seemed to stem from a statement Campbell made at the Mountain Lake Cottage Association's annual general meeting earlier in the week where he stated two-thirds of the population in the service area rely on the services offered at the Minden Hospital while one-third rely on the Haliburton Hospital.

Baker vehemently disagreed, using the apparent flaws in the report to support his arguments. Baker cited a number of factors that weren't taken into account, such as the number of youth camps in close proximity to the Haliburton Hospital, which add as many as 4,000 potential health service users in the summer months. That, and other factors not taken into consideration, could alter the statistics and change the population density figures, Baker suggested.

To compile the study, Campbell drove the roads of the county, recording mileage and times from various locations to the two hospitals. Customer service statistics from Ontario Hydro for the area were used and other sources of information were tapped by Campbell to compile the data for his demographics report.

Baker says that the mileage and times weren't consistent with the formula that was set out in the report's parameters, citing several examples to support his challenge to the report's credibility.

He said that his concern is that all members of the board must present a common voice to the public. He has no objections to anyone who disagrees with board decisions but he said that anyone on the board who makes a statement publicly that isn't in agreement with the majority of the board should qualify that statement by pointing out that it is his or her own opinion and not that of the board.

What is urgent care?

Another question which perplexed the board was what is exactly meant by the term "urgent care".

Finding a precise definition is critical, because the ministry has stated that following the consolidation of acute care services in one location in the county, the other community will still have services provided through an urgent care facility.

Members of the board pressed ministry representative David Thomas for a definition of the term. "Exactly what will be offered and what will not be offered at an urgent care facility?" board member Ted Wilkes asked. Ministry representative David Thomas told the meeting there is no concrete definition for "urgent care". Pressed again he suggested that an urgent care facility could deliver services which could be described as being somewhere between the care that would be provided in a doctor's office and that of a hospital's emergency room. He said he would attempt to provide the board with a more precise definition.

Mountain Lake Property Owners

Health care major concern at annual meeting

The members of the Mountain Lake Property Owners Association are concerned about the future of health care services in the county. That was obvious by the lively question and answers exchange which took place following a presentation by the chairman of the Acting Health Services Board, Stuart Baker. The chairman, along with vice chairman Paul Heffer and committee member Doug Campbell, were invited to address the association's annual meeting, July 9, at the Minden Community Centre.

Baker outlined the history of the various reports which have been prepared up to this point and the formation of the acting Health Services Board, which was created, following the recommendations of the Ministry of Health last December, that the local community be given greater responsibility for the planning and control of its health care systems.

Baker told the gathering that while the board is wrestling with the directive from the province that the acute care services must be consolidated on one site, the board is committed to providing what he described as "meaningful emergency care services" in both Haliburton and Minden villages. This assurance appeared to please most of those at the meeting although there were a number of questions regarding other aspects of health care.

Baker said the community's portion of the capital cost for the new facilities may be difficult to raise, and the board might have to consider asking the county to debenture a portion of the costs. However, he assured the members of the association that once a formal fund raising effort is underway, the board would be contacting the association for its support. He pointed out that a previous fund raising effort, in support of the 18 chronic care bed addition to the Haliburton Hospital had been very successful, but the project had not gone ahead. He said the community would likely be very reluctant to support another fund raising drive until it saw the original funds being used and the building being constructed.

Chairman of the acting Health Services Board, Stuart Baker addresses the annual meeting of Mountain Lake property owners held July 9 at the Minden Community Centre.

He noted that the Ministry of Health has instructed the Acting Health Services Board to operate the facilities which will be under its control, at the moment the two hospitals and in the future the 30 Long Term Care (LTC) beds which have been approved for construction at the Haliburton Hospital, within the existing budgets.

Health Services Board member Doug Campbell pointed out that any shortfall in the operating costs would have to be covered through local taxes. Continuing a theme he has expressed in the past, Campbell told the meeting that while the Ministry of Health has asked the local board to operate within a tight budget, it has also approved the placement of 30 LTC beds attached to the Haliburton Hospital, even though a consultant's study points out the least expensive option would be to build those beds attached to Hyland Crest in Minden. He said the board has since received word that the ministry prefers that all the acute care beds be located in Haliburton as well, to ensure there are enough services in one location to generate the an economy of scale. He said there appears to be a discrepancy in the approach taken by the Ministry of Health, depending on which health service the directive affects.

Campbell maintained that the consolidation of the acute care services was still a decision to be made by the Acting Health Services Board and until the decision was taken, the board cannot start any co-ordinated fund raising.

Baker told the gathering that the board is preparing to hire an executive director to assist it in its decision making. Before any decision is made, Baker said, there would be an opportunity for public input. He told the meeting the acting board should be incorporated by 1996, at which time it should be ready to assume responsibility for the operation of the two hospitals and the new LTC beds.

Water quality

There was good news for property owners on the lake when they heard from Bruce MacMillan and Eric Moore. The two property owners have been monitoring the quality of the lake water using Sechi Disk clarity tests and taking water samples to the Ministry of the Environment. (more on page 5)

Anyone for tennis?

Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal council hopes a ceremony to mark the refurbishing of the community tennis courts could lead to the creation of a tennis club.

The community's recreation committee, under the chairmanship of Jim Davis, has suggested that the formation of a club might increase the use and interest in the courts. The courts recently underwent a renovation, funded through the Federal and provincial government's infrastructure program.

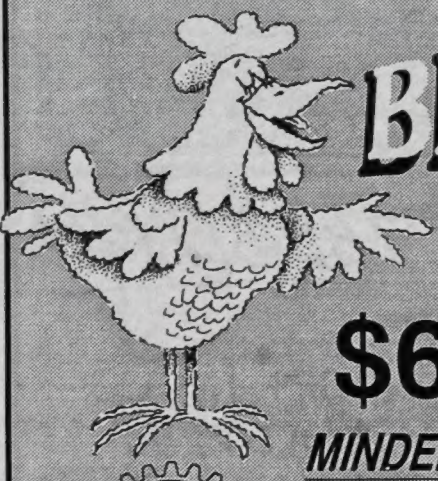

According to Reeve Bern Berry, Jack Richardson, a resident of Mountain Lake, has volunteered to provide tennis lessons for adults provided there is enough interest. The lessons have been tentatively scheduled for each Tuesday and Thursday from 8 to 11 a.m. Berry suggested a club would help generate increased interest in the facility and greater use. He suggested that if a club were formed, some of the responsibility for maintaining the courts could fall to the club members.

The reeve said he hoped that Richardson could be in attendance at the ceremonies, planned for 1 p.m. July 22, and that interest in forming a club could be gauged at that time. The Minden tennis courts are available for public use, free of charge. Lighting is available for evening tennis. The courts are located next to the Curling Club parking lot on Prentice Street.

The public is invited to attend the opening.

Petitioner seeks road upkeep help

A request for assistance in upgrading an unassumed road will have to wait further clarification regarding ownership of the property in question.

Mike Marks, an owner of property on Beer Lake, approached Anson Hindon and Minden council Thursday evening with a request to have township roads department provide assistance in maintaining the road from the township road to "the gate" leading to Beer Lake. The road is a popular route for outdoors enthusiasts for reaching a large block of Crown land west of Minden. Marks said the portion of the road in question has suffered in the past couple of years. He said he realized it was not a part of the township's road system, but felt since a large number of area residents use the route, that the township might provide some assistance.

He told the councillors he was not expecting the road to be brought up to accepted standards, but was simply looking for the application of several loads of gravel to ensure continued safe use. He estimated 5 or 6 tandem loads of gravel would be required to improve the road condition.

Marks presented the councillors with a petition upporting the municipal assistance. It was endorsed by Beer Lake area property owners and individuals using the road on the last holiday weekend.

Questions were raised as to the ownership of the road. Marks believes the road is owned by the municipality, although it has not yet been assumed into the vironment for testing.

Regular sampling of the lake has been taking place since 1979. This provides enough data to create a profile of the lake and determine how it has changed over the years.

According to MacMillan, the two testing methods provethe lake quality has not deteriorated. He pointed out, through the use of charts, that there is some variation from year to year, but that on average Mountain Lake has maintained a "nice happy medium" in water quality.

He did say however, that lakefront property owners should continue to be concerned about the quality of the lake. "The biggest culprit is phosphorus, which is generated from human waste, fertilizers and detergents," MacMillan said. He asked the members to maintain a strip of vegetation between their property and the lake shore to assist in absorbing the excess phosphorus in run-off water. As well, he sought property owners' co-operation in maintaining their septic systems, refraining from the use of fertilizers on their lawns and using detergents which are phosphate-free.

Lake Steward

Gary Chapman, year-round resident on the lake continues to serve the association as the Lake Steward. He described his duties as acting as a liaison between government ministries and the lakefront property owners. However, he noted the only time his services had been needed was when property owners called to ask him if he knew why the electricity had failed.

Chapman told the meeting he is gathering stories and anecdotes which will be compiled into a history of Mountain Lake. He requested that anyone with items they think would be of interest contact him.

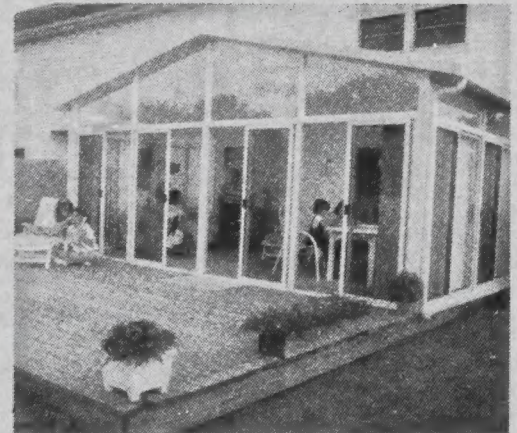

Other items

David McKnight reported to the meeting that he is preparing a map of the navigational hazards on the lake.

Highland Games a success

The sixth annual Highland Games held Saturday July 9 went off with a bang...or shall we say with bagpipes. With about 10 pipebands, several highland dance troupes, children and adult games, food and beverages and, of course, people in kilts, the Highland Games were a great success.

The Highland Creek Pipes and Drums won the prize for best overall band. Harry MacDonald won, for the fourth year in a row, the hammer throw. He broke a Canadian record, throwing a 22 pound hammer 107 feet

Jessica Swan, from Harcourt was named the Haliburton Highlands dancer of the day.

The Haliburton Fire Fighters won the tug of war contest for the fourth year in a row.

No comfort level

The acting Health Services Board must make an important decision in the near future. Under directions from the Ministry of Health, the board must decide in which community to consolidate the county's acute care services. The decision is a difficult one for any number of reasons. At the moment both Minden and Haliburton enjoy the services of an acute care hospital and the vital emergency care that is a part of such a facility. Consolidation will mean one of the two communities will no longer have a "Hospital" or the services of an emergency department.

The community has been told that it must change its way of thinking about health care because the delivery of many of the services currently offered through the hospitals will be provided in other ways. The committee is being asked to forget the current concept of "hospital" and believe this future configuration will still meet our needs and be less expensive to operate.

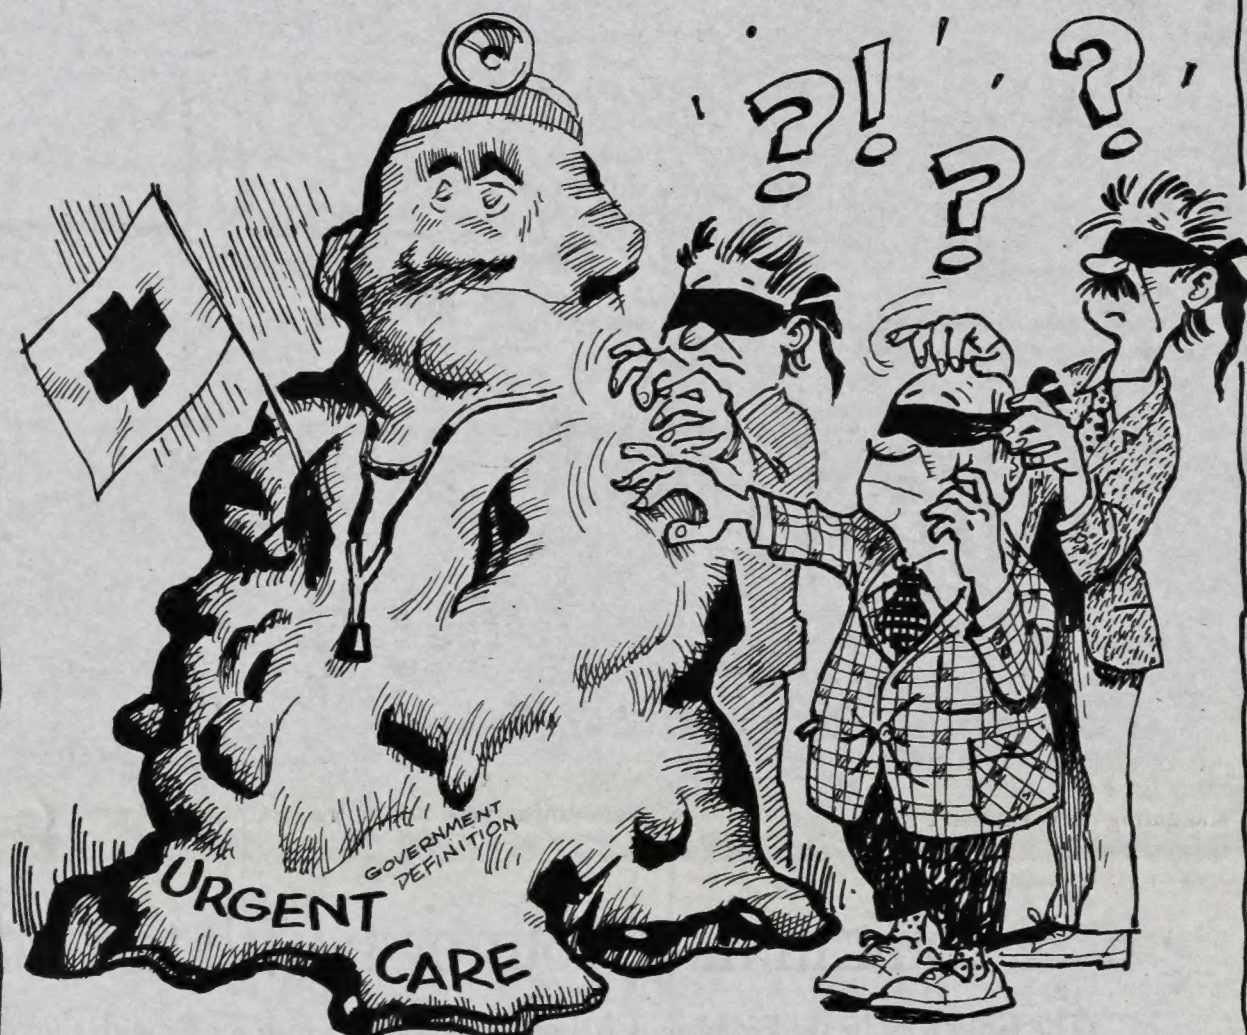

Unfortunately, we find little comfort in these words and ideals. Quite naturally, residents of the county have grown comfortable and secure with the services now available in each community. If anything, the people believe the services should be enhanced, the facilities improved or replaced and more, not fewer, services provided for the growing, and aging, population. It is safe to say that in both communities, people feel the loss of "their" acute care facility will diminish health care services in that community and have a disastrous impact on community life in general.

So far, the Ministry of Health in its wisdom has offered no comfort.

At the most recent meeting of the acting Health Services Board, it was explained (again) that the community which loses its acute care hospital and 24 hour emergency department, would receive in its place an "urgent care facility". So far, no one has been able to precisely define what the term "urgent care facility" means. The closest we have come to understanding the term, was a suggestion that an urgent care facility was, "something between a doctor's office and an emergency department." This definition offers scant comfort to the communities in the Highlands.

Before the acting Health Services Board agrees to approve the consolidation, (and we still believe the board has the option of telling the ministry it won't make that decision because of the loss of important services it will impose on one of the county's health service centres), it and the community which will lose its acute care services, must be assured that the replacement will in fact meet the needs of the area residents. Without that degree of comfort, both at the board table and in the community as a whole, any process leading up to a decision is bound to be clouded in acrimony.

There are aspects of the new health care model proposed by the Ministry of Health that represent positive and necessary change. However, it is unfortunate, the province has placed this onerous roadblock between the reality of today and the promise of a better tomorrow.

Canadians have been silent too long on moral issues

Editor:

Although I am not a Roman Catholic, I commend the local Congregation of Our lady of Fatima Church, for their display on the church lawn mourning 25 years of abortion in Canada.

Whether or not there is unanimity on their church's position on this matter is not the issue. The same principle of freedom of expression which quite properly allows those who are offended by this display to speak out also entitles those who feel strongly on the issue to similarly express their views by word or display.

For too long, Canadians of all persuasions have remained silent on moral issues and allowed a decline in the traditional values of Western civilization on which Canada was founded.

Quick response saves a life

Editor:

On Thursday morning, July 8, I received a phone call from my neighbour's wife. She asked me if I would come over, that there was something wrong with her husband.

I immediately yelled to my son, and we quickly ran down the street to their cottage. When we came in the door we saw him lying on the floor, silently holding his chest. His wife told me that at first she tried phoning 911, but could get through. We then called for an ambulance.

I am writing in respect to the Stanhope Volunteer Fire department. They were at our door in minutes and immediately took control of the situation.

I, and everyone at Ox Narrows would like to thank these people for helping save our friend's life. He is now in the Lindsay hospital recovering from a heart attack.

Great hospitality, great tournament

Editor:

In the course of a year in Haliburton County, various events and activities designed to promote the area and encourage additional tourism take place. They require diligence and a great deal of time on the behalf of volunteers and also the financial support of local businesses and residents.

The most recent event, "The Dave Andreychuk Charity Golf Classic," at PineStone certainly deserves consideration and comment.

The superlative effort put forth by Bryan Brown, chairing this event for the Chamber of Commerce and Peg Bradford of Haliburton Community Futures in conceptualizing, planning, organizing and brining it to a most successful conclusion should be highly commended. Without their drive and motivation and the backing and support of the Chamber of Commerce, I suspect that the tournament would not have taken place, let alone be the tremendous success that it was.

In addition to this, we should all be thankful that we have a location such as PineStone Resort and Conference Centre that is capable of hosting such an event. Anne Larcade and her very able staff at PineStone showed proficiency as well as their highly developed sense of professionalism, before and during the event that I would compare to the finest resorts worldwide. Their positive, welcoming attitude, sense of humour, deft and subtle touches throughout the day and great food and beverages all contributed to a memorable occasion.

We know firsthand that some participants had not been to The Highlands previously and were convinced to return again with their families for extended stays. We certainly enjoyed ourselves and it appeared that visitors, Haliburton County residents and, of course, the visiting, upbeat celebrities all seemed to be having a great time.

We hope that this charitable event, PineStone Resort, the Chamber of Commerce and tourism in all parts of the County can benefit in some way from this day now and in the future. The fact that everyone had fun and also raised considerable money for charity speaks well for this community.

Best wishes for continued future success.

John and Wendy Gunning, Haliburton.

Don't blame the War Amps

Editor:

Public supporters of CHAMP and Key tag Program are confusing The war Amps with the Legion. Sadly we are being inundated with complaints stating that support will be withheld due to what is perceived to be a racist attitude among veterans.

The War Amps does not operate clubrooms. It is a registered charity. No politics; no racial issues; no headress attitudes—one way or the other.

When it comes to durains, the nose knows

Right now, even as you're reading this, David Oren is most likely creeping like a bandit through the Brazilian rain forest. He is stalking an extremely elusive mammal called the mapinguari. A mapinguari is not something you'd like to have in your living room when the vicar comes calling. A mapinguari is a very large, rather nasty, furry ground sloth which has never actually been officially recorded as 'present' in modern times. Indeed, most scientists believe the mapinguari became extinct about 9,000 years ago. But Oren, a U.S. biologist who's been living in and studying the Amazon basin for the past 18 years, is convinced it's out there, somewhere, munching on the Brazilian underbrush.

He's had dozens of eyewitness reports from natives over the past few years. He's seen, with his own eyes, large foot prints that, he believes, could belong to no other animal. That's why he's out there, padding through the Mato Grosso of the South American outback.

Wearing a gas mask.

Yes, a gas mask. That's the other thing that every eyewitness who's spotted a mapinguari never fails to mention — the stench. "People universally report that this animal really stinks," said Oren. "People become intoxicated and spend a day or two lost in the forest after they come in contact with it."

Interesting to speculate about how bad the mapinguari must smell. Worst than a skunk? As bad as week-old roadkill? More overpowering than Uncle Leroy's outhouse or the breath of your Grade 10 Geometry teacher?

How about; worse than the smell of a durain?

Our malodorous world

Black'n White

by Arthur Black

The durain is a round green fruit about the size of a watermelon. The fruit is studded with sharp green spikes and can weigh up to 30 pounds. When you break it open it reveals white pod-like sections that have the texture of a very ripe camembert cheese.

But when you break it open, chances are you won't notice a thing about the texture. You'll be too busy throwing up. Because the ripe durain smells very much like rotten fish.

That's the bad news about durains. The good news is: you'll probably never smell one. They only grow in Malaysia.

Smells are funny things. My father sold sheep and calves at the Ontario Public Stockyards. It was a job with odiferous overtones. He died 35 years ago, but if I close my eyes I can summon up, just as if he was sitting next to me, the aroma of sweat and hay and cowhide and sheep dung that clung to his work clothes.

That's why I smile whenever my city friends recoil in mock horror at the smell of cattle manure. It's perfume to me.

I wish I could say the same about pig manure, but I can't. Pigs don't smell the way other farm animals smell. Cattle are ...aromatic, horses smell good, sheep smell okay, but pigs stink. Pigs stink in a way that only another pig could forgive. Pigs stink so much they rated a special seminar at an international agricultural conference held in Ames, Iowa recently — a two-day seminar devoted to hog odour.

It was enough to take your breath away.

One researcher said she had evidence that the smell from hog lots altered the mood of downwind residents. Another scientist suggested that swine odour could be the cause of disorienting blackout spells. Everyone agreed that the smell of swine was one of the largest remaining hurdles between urban and rural folk.

I pass a couple of hog farms every day on my way to work. Mostly I don't notice it, but on the occasions when the wind is just wrong and the car window is open, I am reminded once again of what one microbiologist described as "that indefatigable engine of pollution — the pig."

When that happens, I try to be philosophical about it.

I remind myself that after all, I could be passing a durain plantation.

POLE POSITION KARTWAYS

Dan Mills and his staff welcomed many area merchants, their staff and families to an evening of fun at the Pole Position Kartways, located south of Minden off Highway 35. Each of the businesses which had posted advertising billboards at the go-cart track were invited to an evening of carting, bumper boats, and mini-golf. While there were a large number of children on hand to keep things hopping throughout the evening, it was enjoyable to see the number of adults who rediscovered their youth and tried their hand on the track or in the bumper-boat pool.

Visitors to the store will find a new gift section and an expanded hardware section. Foster's is now an independent Howden Hardware dealer. Adjacent to the store they have added a chip wagon.

road system. However, Road Superintendent Clayton Cameron questioned that assumption and suggested it might in fact be on private land or under the control of the Ministry of Natural Resources through a forestry access agreement. Marks pointed out that the access route has been in use for a large number of years. It represents the only way he and several of his neighbours can reach their property. Numerous hunt camps located west of the community, also use this route to reach the road which parallels the high tension power line. Marks said he felt that when the MNR reached an agreement with property owners regarding the permanent opening of the gate which formerly blocked access to the power line road, the entrance portion had become a public route.

Before considering the property owner's request for assistance, the council has asked that the ownership question be determined. Marks said he would return at a future meeting to follow up on the discussion.

Andreychuk Classic raises $14,000 for hospital fund

by Jerry Grozelle

The first Dave Andreychuk Classic Golf Tournament was a tremendous success, raising about $14,000 for the Haliburton County Hospital Fund. Ninety golfers paid $175 each to play 18 holes at PineStone with about 25 celebrities, many of them current and retired NHL hockey players.

Tournament organizer Bryan Brown said Friday that the tally wasn't in yet but he expects receipts to be close to $14,000 after all the expenses are paid.

The top team of the day was that of Glenn Williams of Rock 95 FM in Barrie. Golfing with Williams were Ken Rydman, Don Gregor, Frank Powers and Hugh Nichol. Host Dave Andreychuk and his team, which included John Yakabuski, Phil Windle, Julian Pristanskiv and Dan Miller, were second and third went to the team led by former Maple Leaf player Carl Brewer and including Doug Campbell, Scott Campbell, Tom Thompson and Ron Jewell.

"I heard nothing but positive things about the tournament," Brown said.

Brown gives most of the credit for arranging for the attendance of the celebrities to Walt McKechnie and Glen Sharpley, with some input from Ron Stackhouse as well.

"It couldn't have happened without the celebrities," Brown said. "You couldn't ask for a better bunch of celebrities." The three men are well known retired local heroes of the NHL.

The Toronto Maple Leafs organization was very helpful, Brown says. Numerous items were donated by the club to be used as prizes.

While Brown was apportioning the accolades, he credited the professionalism of auctioneer Calvin Mabee and guest speaker Brian McFarlane for their parts in the success of the event. Mabee coaxed the maximum from the bidders and McFarlane kept the audience in stitches with a steady stream of jokes, punctuated with a few anecdotes from the world of the NHL.

Brown also praised the efforts of the PineStone staff and the contributions that PineStone made to the event.

The tournament wasn't without its own material for future anecdotes. Brown took great pleasure in singling out his best friend of 20 years, Gerry Hogenhout of Orangeville. Hogenhout, who is not known for his prowess on the links had the longest drive on the sixth hole. Unfortunately, that's not what Hogenhout will be remembered for. The fact that he lost 21 balls over the 18 hole course established a record that may stand for many years.

First-time golfer Randy Jennings, who is better known locally as the recent host of the no-pro bass tournament in Haliburton, had better luck than most can brag about on their first outing. Jennings chipped in a 46 yard shot for an eagle on one hole.

Brown said that at least half of the people who participated in the tournament this year have expressed an interest in a repeat performance next year. Those who helped make the first of what promises to be an annual event such a success will have first chance to register next year.

"Anyone who participated this year will have to let us know if they don't plan to attend next year," Brown reassured one golfer who obviously enjoyed the tournament.

To give an idea of the co-operation of the celebrities who attended, Brown said that when the auction was over and most of the participants had left, several of the celebrities went to the PineStone bar and signed autographs. Later, they went to McKeck's Place for more of the same.

Success: Bryan Brown, organizer of the Dave Andreychuk Classic Charity Golf Tournament at PineStone last Thursday, is flanked by guest speaker Brian McFarlane and celebrity host Dave Andreychuk. The event raised an estimated $14,000 for the Haliburton County Hospital Fund.

Parnell cashes in at horseshoe tourney

The Jerry's Barber Shop Horseshoe Pitching Tournament was held at the Minden Fairgrounds on July 10.

Trophies and cash prizes were awarded to the winners of the doubles and singles events.

The first place hardware was won by the duo of Wayne Parnell and Doug Robinson.

Second went to Brian Smith and Jim Skinner, with the third place honours going to Mike Byrnes and Don Trump.

Parnell also took first place in the singles event, with Robinson grabbing second.

The league points title for the first half of the season, along with the cash prize, made it a clean sweep for Parnell. Jerald Cooper was second and Robinson took the third prize.

Winning team: One of Tom Saunders' teams strains to pull the load of concrete the required 15 feet during the annual Horse Pull competition at Norland on July 9. The Lindsay teamster took home top prize in both the heavy horse and light horse divisions.

Saunders teams win two classes at Annual Horse Pull in Norland

An estimated 300-plus people spent the afternoon at Ward Memorial Park at Norland on July 9 to take in the annual horse pull.

Tom Saunders of Lindsay took top honours in both the heavy horse and light horse divisions at the Norland event.

His heavy team pulled a load of 7,350 pounds the farthest, to take first prize.

One of the two teams entered by Lisa Korbett of Kilworthy, Ontario placed second in the heavy horse class. The other team took third place.

Fourth in the heavy horse division went to Dennis Stamp of Wiebride, Ontario.

Mike Wessell of RR#1, Coboconk took second in the light horse division, behind Saunders. The Saunders team pulled 6,600 pounds.

The heavy pony division was won by Glen Parks of Bancroft. His team pulled 4,050 pounds.

Buck Graham of Norland placed second in the heavy pony class and David Parks of Bancroft was third.

Glen Parks also won the first prize in the light pony division. His second team pulled 3,175 pounds.

Gerald Watts of Bancroft placed second, Ron Kerr of Perth was third, and fourth went to Charlie Tripp of Warkworth.

Best teamster prizes were handed out in each of the four divisions.

Dennis Stamp took top honours in the heavy horse class. Mike Wessell was the best teamster of the light horse division. Buck Graham took the best teamster prize for the heavy pony class and the top teamster of the light pony division was Ron Kerr.

The Norland Fire-fighters Association held its annual draw for a $1,000 bill at the end of the horse pull and the winner was Eunice Tubman of Markham.

Alan and Lily Adams of Hamilton won the gate prizes.

Haliburton shares 3rd place

Haliburton remains tied for third place with the Parry Sound Rockets in the B division of the Huronia District Soccer League. Both Haliburton and the Rockets have played two fewer games than the first-place Huntsville Strikers and one less game than the second-place Collingwood Knights.

Huntsville has 14 points, followed by Collingwood with 11. Haliburton and Parry Sound have eight points apiece.

Lawn bowlers enjoy fun day

Thirty-five members of the Minden Lawn Bowling Club took advantage of the fun day at the club on July.

The lawn bowling got under way at 10 a.m. with four games before the lunch break. Another four games followed lunch.

Lew Tompkins, Laurel Tompkins, Barbara Walker and Madge Bennett earned top honours for the day.

Second place went to the foursome of Cecil Rowe, Joan MacKenzie, Dorothy Rowe and Jean Hollobon.

The third place team was Ross Farr, Ruth Flatt, Beryl Mackey and Kay Cannon.

Lew Tompkins was a double winner that day, going home with the 50/50 draw winnings as well.

Club officials offered their thanks to Eleanor Crane, Doris Grant and May Sinclair for preparing a delicious lunch; to May and Donald Sinclair for the display of pins and T-shirts; and to Ruth McKay for the donation of scarves for prizes.

Environmental issue or family feud?: MOE holds the key

by Jerry Grozelle

The old adage "blood is thicker than water" doesn't hold true in one part of Stanhope Township.

Margo Collingham has a cottage at the mouth of the Boshkung River and her uncle and cousin David Johnson Senior and Junior own property on the opposite side of the bay.

Collingham attended Stanhope Council in June protesting alleged dredging and filling of a point in Boshkung Lake as well as garbage that was deposited near the water on the Johnson property. Collingham said that she feared the residue from old paint cans and automotive batteries may be leaching into the lake.

Council pointed out that both the Ministry of Natural Resources and the Ministry of Environment had inspected the site in the past and found no evidence that would support her claims. Township officials also stated that they have no jurisdiction in such matters, that they fall under the responsibility of the MNR or MOE.

Council did agree to set up a meeting at the site. That meeting and site inspection was arranged for July 13 and all members of council, along with MNR and MOE officials as well as a representative of the Johnsons were present. David Johnson Sr. was unable to attend because he is recovering from a recent operation and David Jr., didn't feel it warranted taking time off work, so he designated Kirsti Reynolds as his representative. Reynolds lives on the same bay as Johnson and Collingham.

Collingham and her sister Heather Jennings produced a petition with 300 names protesting the alleged pollution and shoreline work on the point.

Pictures clearly showing garbage on the Johnson property were provided by Collingham.

The site inspection on July 13 failed to turn up any evidence of garbage, or signs of recent excavation on the peninsula. The garbage that had been evident in the photos had been buried, at the direction of Bill Thompson of the MOE.

Both Collingham and Jennings said that they would like the MOE to take soil samples and have them analysed for pollutants that could leach into Boshkung Lake.

"If they don't find anything, that's great," Collingham said. "But if there are pollutants, we want to make sure that they are removed."

Jennings said that she would like to be certain that the fish caught in the area near the property are safe to eat.

David Johnson Jr. was contacted at his home in Toronto. He said that his cousins are perpetuating a family feud that started 40 years ago.

Johnson admitted that part of the lot had been used to get rid of household garbage. When the MOE did a site inspection, Thompson told Johnson that the garbage should be buried. Johnson said he complied and had a contractor come in and fill over the garbage.

As for the building up of the peninsula that runs out into the lake from Johnson's property, he explained that he had not done anything to increase the height or width of the point.

"I used to go up regularly and clear the underbrush along the point and around the bay," he said. "I used to cut it with a scythe in the beginning and then a Weed Eater."

But Johnson said that he hurt his back and discontinued the clearing of brush and vegetation.

"Actually, I'm a bit of an environmentalist myself," Johnson said. "I started letting the natural vegetation grow. I have absolutely nothing to hide."

He insists that Collingham's perception of the peninsula getting bigger is just the vegetation that is being allowed to grow. That growth, he says, is what is causing most of the problems with his cousin, because it is blocking the view of the lake from her cottage.

Johnson said he got a panic call from Collingham "six or eight weeks ago, threatening to trump up an environmental charge if he didn't do something about the vegetation that was obstructing her view of the lake."

"It's all fiction and allegation," Johnson said. "She's doing the best she can to level the undergrowth."

Johnson said that this isn't the first time he has had problems with his cousin. Her cottage is close to the road going in to the cottages on the point and he claims that Collingham has been doing her best to deter neighbours and visitors from using the private road to access the property on the other side of the river.

"Everybody on the bay is sick and tired of her harassing neighbours and visitors," he said.

"The humorous part is, they're the worst offenders of all," Johnson added.

He stated that Collingham had part of the bay at her property filled where an old boathouse stood and he claims that some questionable improvements were made without any knowledge of the township.

"They seem to think there are two sets of rules," he added. "They are very insidious people. I'm waiting to see what she (Collingham) will come up with next."

A few years ago a septic tank pumping truck broke through the bridge over the Boshkung river. Johnson said that Collingham approached the ministry at that time trying to have the bridge declared unsafe and thereby deny access to the properties on the other side of the river. But an engineer was hired and repairs were made. Ministry approval was granted and access was retained.

Thompson promised to approach the Johnsons for permission to take soil samples. If permission is granted, the analysis will determine conclusively whether or not the concerns of Collingham and her supporters are founded.

People Who Make a Difference

Gerry and Joan Irish are ready willing and able to retire

by Kelly Pettinger

After teaching for over 30 years, and seven years of owning a popular motel, Gerry and Joan Irish are ready, willing and able to take on the role of retirees. But they're not going south like some of their friends. Instead they plan to stay right where they are and get back into activities in the town they know and love...Haliburton.

Spare time is not a term you'll find in their vocabulary. When they aren't busy with the Silver Maple Motel, they are entertaining six grandchildren, going to Tai Chi and teaching aquasize classes, attending different committee meetings, taking watercolour and folk art classes, and socializing with friends they have grown to love over the 17 years they have been married.

Joan was born in Toronto and raised in the Lochlin area. Later she married and moved to Alberta and raised her four children, Gene, David, Judy, Wendy. She moved back to the Highlands in 1969 after she and her first husband separated. She loved the city, but as soon as she came back home she realized there is no better place to be than Haliburton.

"I have met a lot of wonderful people here and it is such a great place to be," said Joan.

Gerry was born in Haliburton, raised in Haliburton, educated in Haliburton and worked in Haliburton all of his life. "That's why I'm qualified to help run the Heritage Wednesday Walks," he said. "I will never live anywhere else. This is my home and it always will be. We do go to the city to see the theatre, but after two or three days I can hardly wait to get home."

They had been friends before they were married, but it wasn't until Joan came back to live here that they met up again at the school where Gerry was teaching. Seven years later they were married and Gerry inherited four children, one grandchild, two goldfish and a dog.

"We got married on March 12, 1977, and whenever I think of our wedding date I always think of the number underneath the prisoner's picture, 12377," Gerry laughs.

"And if you say it one more time, I'm going to stamp it on your forehead," Joan warns. "And they said it would never last."

They retired from teaching about eight years ago, but felt they weren't ready to sit back and relax. They bought the Silver Maple Motel and have since learned the art of relaxation and would now like to sell the business. They want desperately to get back into the community-oriented activities in which they were once involved.

Beginning in 1984, Joan was president of the Haliburton Legion for three years and Gerry was on the executive. Together they helped initiate the Bluegrass Festival and the Highland Games.

As president Joan wanted to start a cadet corps in Haliburton. "That was Joan's big goal. She really pushed to get the cadets established here. So she pushed hard enough until it happened. At the time I worked in the office and as administrator. I looked after registration and requisitioned supplies until the corps was well underway, and it's still going on strong," said Gerry.

The Irish's have been Legion members since 1978. "We helped to make sure that everything operated right, and we made sure the Legion itself was financially stable and operating well. We worked very hard to make sure we gave something back to the Legion membership. It wasn't just a one way thing. We made sure there was always entertainment at the Legion. At one point there was something going on every night at the Legion, except Sundays," said Gerry.

No vacancy tonight! Gerry and Joan Irish sit outside of their motel and enjoy the warm summer breeze with thier dog Jigs.

The Irish's wanted to make people aware of what the Legion is all about. "It's not just a place to go and drink. It's a memory of a lot of people who didn't come home from overseas. It's for that reason that I am involved with the Last Post Fund. I am the representative from Haliburton County," said Joan.

The Last Post Fund provides funds for the widows of veterans. If a veteran dies in Haliburton County, Joan will spend time talking to and comforting the widow and get financial assistance for the funeral. "I'm proud of that because it is helping the veterans," she said.

"I took on the position of the first vice-president of Haliburton County Home Support Services. Unfortunately the past-president and president were involved with every committee and went to every meeting and it is an impossibility to do that and work here as well. But once we sell the motel we will definitely get back into the community, and I certainly am looking forward to it," said Gerry.

Four years ago Joan ran for council and after three recounts, her name was not the one pulled out of a hat when the tie was finally broken. "It came down to the two of us who tied and they had to draw one of our names out of a hat, and I lost. It was the luck of the draw," she said.

This summer the Irish's took on a new challenge in life. They began lessons in Tai Chi. "It's a wonderful form of socializing. I love being up there doing all the movements for stress-relief. It's hard to move and concentrate so slow. It's very relaxing," said Gerry.

But life for the Irish's hasn't always been relaxing. In 1988 their eldest son Gene drowned, and last spring their daughter Wendy passed away.

"This spring we realized how important family really is. With the motel it's hard to be able to concentrate on our family. We need to be able to spend more time with them," said Joan.

The Irish's are concentrating on getting Haliburton on the map. "I think Haliburton is a special place to live. If you listen to the news or weather it's always about Muskoka. There is nothing Muskoka has that we don't have. We just don't advertise it. Haliburton is the best kept secret in Ontario," said Joan.

McCrae will lead Liberals into next election

Sharon McCrae has been acclaimed as the Liberal candidate for the up-coming Provincial election.

The meeting began with endorsements of support from local MP John O'Reilly and former federal candidate Bruce Glass.

Liberal labour critic, Steve Mahoney, brought greetings from the Provincial Liberal party and leader Lyn McLeod. He reviewed the disastrous impact of many NDP policies in such areas as agriculture, small and medium sized business and enumerated the economic consequences. He reminded the audience of the Liberal commitment "to deliver the best possible government to the people of Ontario."

John Eakins, former MPP for Victoria-Haliburton, nominated Sharon McCrae as the Liberal candidate. John referred to his residency in Ops Township where McCrae is presently Reeve and stated that she had the ability to lead and be decisive. Eakins stated, "I trust her now and I trust her judgement in future decisions."

After the nomination was seconded by Lynn Craigmyle of Haliburton, McCrae was acclaimed to the cheers of her supporters.

McCrae gracefully accepted the opportunity to lead the Liberals into the up-coming provincial election. She stated that in this election, all candidates will have to deal with the real issues of the riding such as job creation, economic support for tourism and agriculture and protection of social programs.

Happy to give

Laurie Roberts flashes a big grin as she does her part to help ease the summer blood shortage in the country. She was one of hundreds of volunteers who stepped forward to donate a pint to the Red Cross blood bank. The annual clinic was held Tuesday July 12 at the Legion hall in Haliburton.

In referring to Mike Harris' "common sense revolution", McCrae said, "Common nonsense! The public does not want a revolution, but an orderly competent approach to good government that will benefit all the people of Ontario." She committed herself to the protection of the rural nature of the riding and outlined her three pronged support to agriculture, tourism and job creation.

She reminded her audience. "We have seen the impact of Mulroney and the Tories and the consequences of Bob Rae and the NDP. It is now time for the Liberals."

If you go out in the woods today....

Venturing into the woods on a beautiful day is something most of us yearn for after a long hard winter. Our focus is on the delights that await us, not on the dangers that lurk there. Unfortunately, people do get lost in the woods and we read about these traumatic events every summer.

People are flocking to our vast wilderness area in ever-increasing numbers. For example, Parks Canada (Department of Canadian Heritage) reports that approximately 14.2 million people, more than half Canada's population, visited Canadian national parks during 1993-94. Greater numbers mean greater potential for danger. To prevent children and adults from becoming lost in the woods or, if lost, to enhance their chances for survival and safety, Emergency Preparedness Canada (EPC) and The Canadian Red Cross offer the following tips;

-Make sure your clothing and footwear are appropriate for the terrain and weather conditions. Cotton is fine for hot, dry weather; wool is best in wet or cool weather. Always wear or carry headgear (a neckerchief can serve as both a hat and a sling), as you can lose as much as 60 per cent of your body heat through your head.

-Hypothermia is the number one killer of outdoor recreationists. Garbage bags, compact and easily carried, can be cut to serve as a poncho; additionally, bright orange and yellow bags can help searchers locate lost individuals.

-Pin a whistle to your children's shirt or hang it around their neck; three signals, whether blasts or shouts, are universally recognised as a distress call.

-Teaching a child to "hug a tree," particularly near a clearing, portrays trees as friends during times of panic and also encourages a lost child to stay in one place, perhaps avoiding fatigue. Fear and panic are the worst enemies of someone lost in the woods and, in the majority of cases, it is far safer to stay in one place and wait to be rescued than to try to walk to safety.

-Avoid wild animals that come too close or seem too friendly. If you do meet a bear, first freeze, speak in a quiet and calm monotone and, if it still remains, slowly and smoothly retreat.

-A variety of shelters can be formed using natural materials such as branches and formations such as caves or fallen trees.

-Water, more important for survival than food, can be found in lakes, streams and most plants.

-Tell children to yell at night noises; if it is an animal, they will frighten it away but if it is a searcher they will attract attention.

-They best way to attract the attention of a search plane is to lie down in a clearing wearing a brightly coloured jacket or garbage bag.

-"Footprint" all of your children's camping shoes by having them step on a sheet of tinfoil over soft material such as a towel and then label the footprints. If your child becomes lost, this procedure will help searchers identify the tracks and possibly the direction of travel.

-Assure your children that no one will be angry with them for getting lost; some children have hidden from searchers because they were afraid of punishment.

For more information, please contact Joan Borsu at Emergency Preparedness Canada (613) 991-7039, or Carol MacIvor at The Canadian Red Cross (613) 739-2263.

Cruisin'

The Fifties and Sixties came alive again for visitors to Head Lake Park in Haliburton last Thursday evening. Members of the local chapter of the Historic Automobile Society of Canada held a "cruise night", bringing together historic car enthusiasts to display their vehicles and answer questions of visitors. The club get-together each Thursday evening at Head Lake Park during July and at Kawartha Dairy in Minden during August. Some of the vehicles on display included, on the left, a 1964 Chevrolet and a 1957 Chevrolet on the right.

Water levels continue to hold

As the first week of July began, the reserve lakes in Haliburton County were averaging 92.7% of their usual full levels. This was about 4% more than the normal amount for that date. Some water was being released beyond minimum flows and this was reduced due to rising levels in the Kawarthas.

The Kawartha lakes had a small surplus on July 4, but over the week the levels declined to the average summer levels.

The flow leaving the lakes was reduced on July 4 and a second reduction brought it down to near minimum for the Ontonabee River on Friday July 8.

While thunderstorms were predicted for the weekend of July 8-11, greater releases of reserve water will likely be needed during the following week.

Galway office project funded

The municipality of Galway/Cavendish has received approval for a $120,000 infrastructure project.

According to an announcement released last week by MP Elmer Buchanan and MP John O'Reilly, the project is expected to generate 100 person weeks of work.

The funding will be used to construct an addition to the Galway/Cavendish municipal office on Highway 503 in Kinmount. Included in the work is renovation to the existing office.

Reeve Oliver Lloyd said the work will improve the efficiency of municipal staff in delivering services to area residents.

The Infrastructure program is a jointly funded project, combining contributions from all three levels of government.

The work is expected to start this September and be completed by April 1995.

The concert is free, and is part of an Annual Outreach Choir Tour.

The Minden and Area Business Association is alive and well, and happy to report that the "Welcome to Minden" sign fundraising campaign has been progressing at a very steady pace. ing us keep our project headed in the right direction.

The next M.A.B.A. meeting is scheduled for July 21, 7:30 p.m. at the Heritage Plaza in the basement boardroom. Anyone who would like to become a member of the M.A.B.A. is welcome to attend, and urged to do so. If you would simply like to get some first hand information regarding our

TVO programming supports efforts of Highlands' artisans

by Susan Wilson

Despite the fact we're off the beaten track and in something of an electronic and economic black hole, Haliburton County can boast one of the most creative and artistic populations anywhere. Look at the Guild of Fine Arts Summer Show and Sale opening Thursday. Look at the autumn Studio Tour. Both are among the Highlands' most successful events in any category.

Look at the musical and theatrical productions mounted here every year. Look at the quality of work exhibited at the fairs. Look at the number of people who have written books about the area and, in some cases, about the larger world too. Look at the artistry and craftsmanship all around you.

It's no wonder that — in addition to children, and seniors, and people seeking to upgrade their education and professional qualifications — the artistic community of this county is in the forefront of those most in support of getting access to the TVOntario signal. It's no wonder because only public broadcasters like TVOntario and its American counterpart, PBS, provide programming that enables people in the arts to get a look at what's happening in the international artistic community. Only public broadcasters offer the depth and diversity that covers the wide range of interests many arts-oriented people demonstrate. Only public broadcasters deliver, on a consistent basis, the intellectual stimulation and opportunity for insight to be found in the written word, the play, the painting, the beautifully crafted artifact, the musical composition.

It's a three-hour drive to the south or a four-hour drive to the east to get to the major cultural institutions of our province and our country. We need something a little closer to home.

Keep those letters coming!

The letter-writing part of our campaign to get Queen's Park to provide the funding for off-air access to the TVOntario signal is going well. If you would be willing to write a letter expressing why you feel we should join the 97 per cent of the province's population that already have access to the signal, please call Margery Cartwright at 457-9660. Marge will send you some information to help you get a handle on the issues and tell you where the letter should go.

Remember: when Anne Swarbrick, Minister of Culture, Tourism, and Recreation makes her decision, the number of letters in the file will be an important factor. If you write a letter, it can make a difference.

Program Highlights:

This week, July 18 to 22, is Moon Week at TVOntario. On July 20, 1969, Neil Armstrong and his astronaut colleagues took "a giant leap for mankind" when they landed on the moon. To mark the 25th anniversary of that unprecedented event, TVOntario is offering a week of programs introduced by Canada's chief astronaut, Bob Thirsk.

Monday, July 18, at 7:30 p.m.: Art off this Earth, a profile of astronaut, moonwalker, and artist Alan Bean. At 8:00 p.m., Finding the Right Stuff, examines the world of modern-day astronauts.

Tuesday, July 19, at 8:00 p.m.: They Never Set Foot on the Moon, a new documentary about the Russians' lunar race, including interviews with Nikita Krushchev's son, who was personally involved.

Wednesday, July 20, at 8:00 p.m.: The Greatest Adventure, the story of the trip to the moon, narrated by Orson Welles. At 10:00 p.m., The Other Side of the Moon presents profiles of eight Apollo astronauts.

Thursday, July 21, at 8:00 p.m.: Soviet Space: The Secret Designer, about the shadowy life and death of Sergei Korolyov, secret architect of the Soviet space program.

Friday, July 22, at 8:00 p.m.: Space Pioneers, the untold story of the early days of the space age, told through the eyes of a space buff.

Susan Wilson represents Haliburton County on TVOntario's Southcentral Regional Council. If you would like to help get access to the TVO signal or have any other comments, call her at 286-6009. This column appears every four weeks. It reports on the progress of the TVO Action Team and highlights upcoming TVO programs.

Visitors to the Minden County Town Museum found they were not only transported back in time, but also to a different season altogether. Museum visitors were invited to discover the special magic of Christmas celebrations of years gone by. Topped with a Santa hat, museum co-ordinator Barb LeBlanc greeted visitors at the Bowron homestead and served up some tasty seasonal treats.

Norland to host junior Albacore sailing competition

The Junior Canadian Albacore Championship are proudly being hosted by Shadow Lake Sailing Club. Albacores are the most popular two person boat in Canada. Youth sailors will compete on August 6 in three different age categories. The youngest sailors are in the 13 and under category. These youngsters are very keen and are extremely capable despite their size. The 16 and 19 and under categories are always fought with a great deal of competitive spirit.

Shadow Lake has a long history of sailing. The Shadow Lakes Sailing Club has been encouraging friendly competition for over 30 years. Albacores, Lasers, and Sunfish are raced weekly by young and old alike. Don Giffin, the author of the Canadian Yachting Association's "Learn to Sail" manuals, is an original member and still races and assists the club. The 1994 Ontario Albacore Championship was recently won by Shadow Lake sailors Mark and Jane Ewen.

A Junior Club is also run on Shadow to teach children from seven to 17 the finer skills of sailing and racing. Junior Club runs Monday to Friday from July 4 to August 12. BOOM, a special two-day introduction class provided by the Ontario Sailing Association, is also hosted July 25 and 26. A few openings are still available in these programs.

The regatta is a very exciting event for the Shadow Lake Sailing Club. With the backing of the Canadian Albacore Association and the Shadow Lake Cottagers' Association, the club has been able to round up many sponsors for prizes and goodies. The entry fee of $35 includes two free tee-shirts if registered before July 24. If you are interested in attending this event, please call Rick Quibell at (705) 454-3185. Spectators wishing to take in the championship can watch the action from the public beach on Shadow Lake Road Three, off Highway 35 in Norland.

Snowmobile club elects new executive

I do hope everyone is having a fabulous summer and, of course, is thinking ahead to our favourite season. This is just a brief update to bring you in touch with our Annual General Meeting held at Hart Lodge June 25, attended by over 80 people.

At the AGM, the club elected all of its Directors and at this time we took on some new people, which now gives us approximately 55 in total. At our first general meeting held July 8, the same directors elected your new Haliburton County Snowmobile Association executive for the 1994/95 season, as follows:

President — Brian Watts
 First Vice President — Chris Bullerdick
 Second Vice President — Mark Lester
 Secretary — Mike Burke
 Treasurer — Brent Devolin
 Chairperson for Ways and Means — Larry Tupling
 Chairperson for Business Administration — Steve

H.C.S.A.

by Brian Watts

Berry

Co-chairpersons for Trails Committee — Elmo Lynburner and Mark Lester

Chairperson for Land Use Permits — Leon Wright
 Co-chairpersons for Driver Education — Larry Hutchinson and Mike Burke

Chairperson — Map Committee — Marj Kennedy
 Chairperson Membership Committee Lynn Peel
 Past-President Peter Overington

At this time I would personally like to take this opportunity to thank my executive for the past season, for the support given to me and the countless hours given to the club and at the same time, welcome all our new people aboard. We look forward to another great season.

Conratulations are also in order to a couple from a neighbouring club. Clyde and Isabel Saunders of Chandos Lake were named the Canadian Snowmobile Family of the Year at the International Snowmobile Council meeting in PEI last month. They are members of the Paudash Trail Blazers.

"I can think of no two people who better exemplify the spirit of Canadian Snowmobiling," said Canadian Council of Snowmobile Organizations president, Harold Mcadam. In a powerful letter nominating the Saunders, Don Lumley president of the OFSC stated, "Clyde and Isabel Saunders have been tireless volunteer workers for organized snowmobiling both locally and as members of the Paudash Trail Blazers. They are ambassadors for safe, responsible family snowmobiling."

Environmental concerns are still high on agenda

Economic issues have dominated our lives in the '90s. The economy seemed to be the only issue in the last federal election and has remained the main preoccupation of governments at the federal and provincial level on all sides of the political spectrum.

During the recession of the '90s, financial support for environmental groups has plummeted while environmental issues have all but disappeared from the media.

During the '70s and '80s, increasing concern about the environment led to the incredible spectacle of Margaret Thatcher declaring she was "green," George Bush labelling himself an "environmental president," and Brian Mulroney appointing Lucien Bouchard as Environment minister to demonstrate his environmental commitment. So is it all over now as the public turns to more pressing preoccupations?

Not at all. People are worried about the economy, of course, but I still sense among the general public a continuing and deep concern about the environment and their children's future.

They know things must change and they are willing to pay for it and make personal adjustments, but people want a concrete vision of where we are going and a realistic strategy to achieve that goal.

Consider Australia, a country very similar to Canada in many ways. Sydney in New South Wales (NSW), is one of the most stunning cities on this planet. But it has many of the familiar urban problems of streets littered with refuse and pet droppings, terrible traffic jams, storm sewers carrying toxic chemicals into water systems, and harbour bottoms laced with heavy metals. So recently, Leichhardt, a municipality in the inner core of Sydney, elected a mayor, Larry Hand, who ran on a green platform.

Hand and his council have already passed legislation mandating solar water heating and provision of shade in all new buildings and major renovations. In future, the council proposes to ban all use of rainforest timber, forced sterilization of all pet cats, and to levy fines against all people who fail to sort their garbage.

Mayor Hand advocates "a green vision and local action plan for the development of an ecologically, socially and economically sustainable environment." His goal is "the restoration of a healthy, natural environment."

The NSW Environment Protection Authority (EPA) recently completed an exhaustive poll of 1,115 rural and urban dwellers. Each was interviewed in person for an average of 40 minutes. The results indicate that politicians lag far behind voters when it comes to environmental matters.

When asked to list their main concerns in descending order of priority, the interviewees ranked their top concern as unemployment, followed by education, health, crime and the environment. But when asked what they thought would be the main priority ten years from now, they moved the environment well ahead of the other four.

Four of every five interviewees said they had changed their behaviour over the past five years for environmental reasons. Among the changes were recycling, the purchase of household products on the basis of their environmental friendliness, conservation of water and trying to convince someone else to be more "green." More than 80 per cent agreed, "there is a lot I, as an individual, can do to help protect the environment."

In terms of specific issues that concerned them, Sydney voters listed ocean and beach pollution, followed by freshwater and air pollution and then waste management and disposal.

Almost half agreed "we are doing too little, too late, to protect the environment." The EPA concluded that there is a huge base of public support for environmental action.

One of the most interesting questions was what sources of information people considered most reliable. Natural and local environmental groups were first and second choices. Third were municipal councils, and schools were fourth. Scientists and technical experts ranked only fifth, government departments eighth, churches eleventh and business and industry, twelfth and dead last. Chris Harris of Greenpeace Australia believes that there is a deep public understanding of the ecological crisis but that environmental groups "haven't adequately found ways to communicate to the public how they can recognize those problems and a knowledge of what they can do."

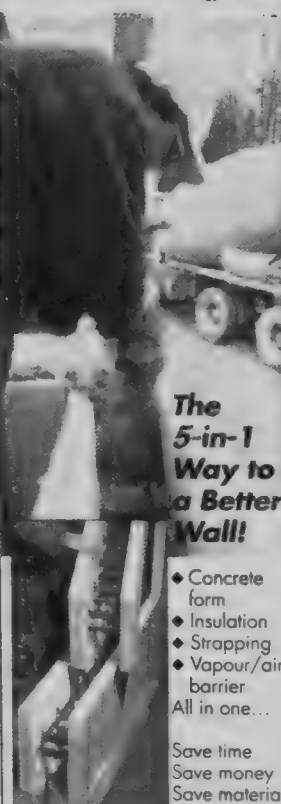

My own personal experiences in Australia and Canada corroborate the EPA poll. Politicians and media pundits make a big mistake in down-playing the environment.

The challenge for environmentalists is to show the inseparable linkage between the environment and the economy and begin to formulate an alternative vision of a future that will be truly sustainable. I suspect local councils like Leichhardt are going to lead the way.

Piano stylings appreciated

Senior League

by Winnifred Barnum

Saturday, July 2, Mr. John Menzies was here to play his lovely piano music. His music is so beautiful and peaceful. Thank you John for entertaining us. We thoroughly enjoyed it.

Sunday at 2 p.m. Estella Burch was here reading another chapter to us. We truly thank her. In the evening, Rev. John Burgess came to take the Chapel service and June Mason played the organ. We appreciate John's and June's efforts.

Monday we were to have Poets' Corner in the afternoon but it was changed and we had a most enjoyable discussion.

Tuesday morning the chapel service was conducted by Rev. Brian Parker who also held the communion service. It was unfortunate that the fire bells were released at that time and rang for quite a long time - one of those unpredictable events. Thank you Rev. Parker for the service and we apologize for the disturbance.

In the afternoon, crafts were made in the craft room with Dottie Muirhead's guidance. In the evening Corinne Arsenault helped with two tables of cards. We thank her very much.

Thursday was our tea party which was provided and served by the ladies of the Eastern Star in Haliburton, it was a delicious lunch which everyone enjoyed. The ladies were Ruth Rice, Edith Johnson, Nancy Gayton, Molly Frieman and two young girls, Kristen Wells and Brittany Doran. Thank you all sincerely.

In the evening two new people came to call bingo and brought their baby. Lee Ann Schlosser and George Fedick. Lee Ann is a good caller and we do appreciate them calling for us.

Friday was Happy Hour as usual, Connie and Mike Biagi and Frank Faulkner came to entertain the residents and their friends. Everyone enjoyed their lovely music and had a good time. The volunteers were Don and Ellen Holden, Dottie Muirhead and Pearl Cowen. It was a short hour since the auditorium had to be prepared for the sale in the evening. Thanks to all who helped with Happy Hour.

Congratulations and best wishes to Pearl Lyle on her birthday, July 5, 1994.

Strawberry tea a sweet success

Hyland Crest Auxiliary

Many hands made light work at the Strawberry Tea and Bazaar at Hyland Crest. Our sincere thanks to Dollo's IGA, Kawartha Dairy and staff for their donations and efforts on making our annual tea a successful event.

The ladies of the auxiliary outshone themselves for the bake table. The heat wave didn't stop the ovens from baking and besides delicious pies and cakes, one member put up jars of pickles, chilli sauce and chutney.

The gourmet basket was won by Paul Gauntley and I know that he will savour many fine treats. Bon Appetit Paul.

The Bazaar table was very well arranged with hand-knitted articles, baby quilts, place mats, plants, jewellery and more. Our show-case at Hyland Crest Home is filled once again with many fine articles made by the sewing circles and remember there is no GST or PST.

We are getting ready for our gigantic rummage sale on July 30. You will be surprised at the many items we have to offer.

I wish to thank everyone who participated at our station on Canada Day. We met such nice people and I do hope that the jam will be enjoyable to the last drop.

Our quilt and Raggedy Ann dolls were a big favourite and hopefully someone in our county will be winners.

This is my last report until September. We all need a little relaxation, but it has been my pleasure to inform all who read this paper, just what the Ladies Auxiliary is doing throughout the year for the benefit of the seniors. Anyone considering joining the Auxiliary please contact me at 286-5168. Doing a good deed for a worthwhile cause is very satisfying and brings excellent results. Bye for now. Have a safe and happy summer holiday.

NOTICE OF A PUBLIC MEETING

Regarding Proposed Zoning By-law
Amendment

TAKE NOTICE that pursuant to Section 34 of the Planning Act, R.S.O. 1990, the Council of the Corporation of the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden will hold a PUBLIC MEETING on the 17th day of August, 1994 at 7:00 p.m., in the Minden Municipal Council Chambers at the Municipal Offices, 7 Milne Street in Minden, to consider a proposed zoning by-law amendment to the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden Zoning By-law No. 86-26, as amended.

The purpose of the proposed zoning by-law amendment is to change the zoning category of approximately 0.5 hectares (1.2 acres) of land on Part of Lot 1, Concession A, Township of Anson (Westside Jug City) from the Highway Commercial (C3) zone to the Highway commercial Exception Twenty-Five (C3*25) zone.

The effect of the zoning change would be to add a definition for 'Bowling Alley', amend the definition of 'Dwelling Unit, Apartment', and permit, in addition to the existing permitted uses, a bowling alley and a maximum of six apartments.

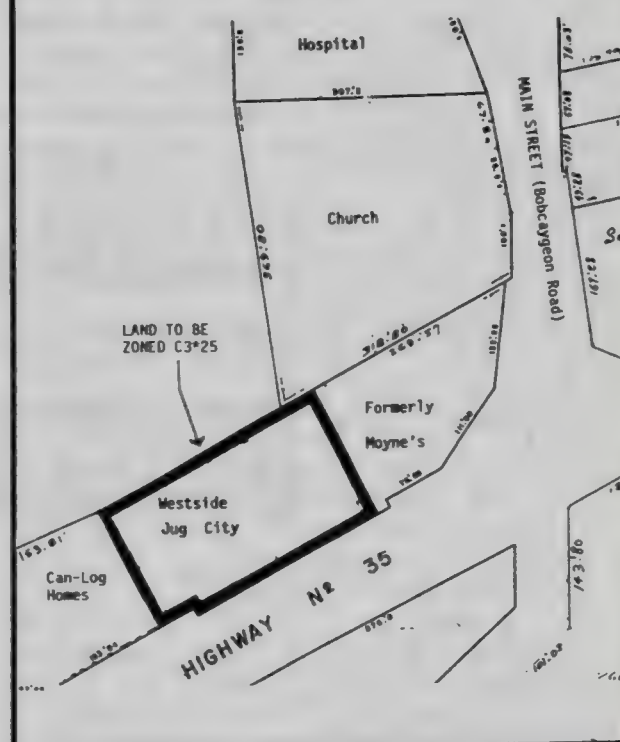

The land affected by the proposed zoning by-law amendment is shown on the key map as the "LAND TO BE ZONED C3*25".

A copy of the proposed amendment is available for review at the Municipal Offices during regular office hours. Any person may attend the PUBLIC MEETING and/or make written or verbal representation either in support of, or in opposition to, the proposed zoning by-law amendment.

Around the County Town

by Jeanne Sears (call 286-1538)

Got involved in several events in the last few weeks. Minden Women's Institute had their annual successful bake sale and "The Terrace" earned some funds for our sponsored child by having our annual summer sale.

Saturday guests with Florence Robinson included her sister Grace Voycey of Gamebridge and her niece Eileen Cockburn of Woodville.

Our township park workers are to be commended for their great care of the lawns around the village and especially along the river banks. The benches and tables seem to be well used by residents and visitors.

Bid euchre games are held at Stanhope Centre on Wednesday nights at 7 p.m. and winners of the Moon Shots on July 13 were Bob Lewis, Ida Young and Brian Henderson. Other winners included Eleanor Smith, Margaret Fletcher, Elsie Henderson, Bob Lewis, Pat Scadden, Ken Wallace and Jim Foster. Everyone is welcome to attend the games.

Visiting with Ed and Peg Pettinger were Joan Maybee and granddaughter Melissa of Joshua Tree, California. They will be having a visit with the Glen Pettinger family in Ottawa also.

Good wishes to the following reportedly on the sick list: Gladys and Jim Dugan, Hilda Harrison, Bud Dart, Ralph Schroter and Iris Taylor.

A family reunion was held on July 9 at the summer home of Helen and Clem Cassidy on Kushog Lake. The occasion was in honour of Miss Agnes Cassidy who was celebrating her 90th birthday which took place on July 12. Family members were present from Dearborn and St. Charles, Michigan, Orillia, Toronto, Sarnia and Guelph.

Euchre game winners at the weekly Monday event at St. Paul's Anglican Church for July 11 included Verna McDonald with most lone hands, Pearl Cowen, Irene Fuhr and Hazel with the draw going to lucky Marian.

Mike, Maureen, Josh and Dan McElwain of Millbrook were visiting with parents Bob and Audrey Vick last week.

Sincere sympathy to the families and friends of the late Fern Butler and to the Bill Payne family on the death of their daughter Jackie.

Helen and Clem Cassidy, seasonal residents on Kushog Lake for the past 34 summers, celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary on Sunday, June 26. This auspicious occasion was commemorated at their summer home on Saturday, July 2 with many family members present: daughters Cecile Mutton, Anne Cassidy and Sheila Bailey (from Toronto, Guelph and Sarnia respectively) and their spouses and children. Congratulations Helen and Clem.

A record crowd at Stanhope on Tuesday July 9 for the weekly bridge games - 9 tables played and the winners were Mary Irwin, Beth Cruchley and Stella McMillan. We are sorry that Thelda Weston is going to Applewood Manor in Peterborough, we will miss her.

Minden County Town Museum members assisted Barbara LeBlanc and Miss Sarah at the "Christmas in July" afternoon tea last Wednesday, July 15 on the lawn. A great number of people enjoyed the buffet of goodies and tea or coffee on a very beautiful afternoon. Many of the visitors had a tour of the buildings and a chat with old friends.

The Wild Boar Roast at Lochlin Centre on July 9 was very successful. Hopefully this will be an annual event with the funds going to Lochlin United Church. Everyone seemed to be very pleased with this first effort.

Club 35 euchre game winners for July 11 included Helen Lee with most lone hands, Margaret Fletcher and Bruce Cummings with the high scores, Eleanor Smith, Betty Campobell and Lou Penick. Lucky winner of the 50-50 draw was Eleanor Bunker and special prizes went to Jean Duesbury and Bob Pollard. The next Wheels to Meals dinner is July 19 at 12 noon.

I was very happy to have Sandra, Gary, and Danielle Gauthier and Logan and Daniel Moth of Toronto visit one day last week. Jean Lacey and I joined them at a picnic and swim at 12 Mile Beach, shopping a good meal at the Brown Owl.

Seniors 636 Legion group are planning a Trent Canal cruise on August 9 leaving Minden Legion at 8 a.m. with coffee break on the way then on board for a two hour trip through the Locks at Peterborough. For more details, call 286-2692.

Donations are being solicited for the Gelert Community Centre yard sale on July 23.

Minden United Church ladies bazaar and bake sale will be held Friday, July 22. Watch for more information.

IN MEMORIAM

EATON: In memory of Les Eaton who passed away July 20, 1991.

Always remembered.

Wife Mary and friends Bob and Peggy Harrington.

THOMAS, Madeline. In loving memory of my dear mother, Madeline, who passed away July 18, 1990.

At times when the sun is setting
And another day draws to a close,

At times with a new day's dawning
From a world of deep repose,

At times when the blue skies darken
And obscure the heavens above,

At times when the storm is over
And He envelopes us with His love,

I remember.
Sometimes in the breath of a fresh spring morn

From the chill of winter, the earth reborn,
Sometimes in the heat of a summer noon

And the haunting glow of an Autumn moon,
Sometimes when the breeze blows gently into my face

And my mind drifts slowly to another place,
Sometimes the sparkle of fresh fallen snow

With the deep belief that He will know,
I remember.

All times in the peace of a baby's sigh,
And the lonely echo of a wild bird's cry,

All times in the memories of a golden past
And the hopes of a child that will always last,

All times in the love that is held so dear,
From the heart and soul of one so near,

All times when the mind may discourage me,
True faith that she abides with Thee,

I remember.
Love,

Dwight, Robbie and a family of friends.

GARTSHORE, In loving memory of my dear son Don, brother and uncle, who passed away July 20, 1978.

Our hearts still ache with sadness,

And silent tears still flow,
What it meant to lose you

No one will ever know.
Our thoughts are always with you,

Your place, no one can fill,
In life we loved you dearly,

In death, we love you still.
Forever loved and remembered by Mum, Vern & Marlin, Craig, Marg & Jason, Gary, Pat, Chris, Gary Jr., & Sean.
